Week of 2/6-1/27

Fifth graders did a great job preparing and participating with the Revolutionary War Day. Thank you parents for encouraging your child with memorizing their lines, gathering costumes, setting up, and cheering them on during their performance.

The month of February independent reading theme is Biography. Students should have chosen a person to read and research about for this month. There will be an in class project done on February 24th.

Students will have science with Mrs. Wiczorek for the next couple of weeks. However, as part of our language arts and history time we will be working on our individual state that we our learning about in depth. State projects will be on display at Open House. On March 2nd students will bring to class in the morning a food item that is special to their state. More information about this will be coming soon.
